

Private Lines

to..... Welsh Assembly taking on rail

TRUK 52

April 2006

The Welsh assembly gained power over Welsh railways hoping to echo the success of Scotland. This created the interesting situation we have now where the railways which have the least passengers get the most investment, mainly from taxpayers in England who don't go near them. 45726 suspects that non-expert politicians may be taken advantage of by leasing companies keen to place redundant assets. The very idea.